EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE

FRIENDS OF THE ARMY MEDICAL LIBRARY

Washington, D. C.

THE FINANCIAL SUPPORT OF THE ARMY MEDICAL LIBRARY

The "Friends of the Army Medical Library" now has a membership of nearly 1000 persons, each of whom has signified his intention of helping this Library. There is no binding agreement in this, nor has financial aid been solicited for any of the projects with which our Library is occupied. It is well known that the Army Medical Library receives definite financial support from the Congress of the United States. In the earliest days of the Library, more than 100 years ago, there was almost no support and the Surgeon General's Library was merely a collection of books for the use of the Surgeon General and the members of his staff. Soon after the Civil War, the nucleus of the present Library was formed by the fortunate allocation of about $80,000 which remained of the hospital fund, accumulated at the close of hostilities. At this time, Surgeon General Barnes set aside the entire sum to be used for the purchase of books for the Medical Library. In 1887, the building now occupied became available and since that time Congress has made regular appropriations for the support of the institution.

Comparatively few people are aware of the scope, the function, the management, and the operation of the Library and almost no one except those connected with the institution is aware of the financial support which is necessary. Many people wonder why the Library does not have more activities than are manifest. The answer is in most cases that the necessary funds are not available.

The principle activities of the Library fall into two categories. First is the acquisition of material from every possible source, concerned with medicine and those sciences which are closely allied to medicine. This includes books, theses, journals, manuscripts, reprints, clippings, photographs, portraits, diplomas, etc. The Library has acquired printed material which goes back to 1467, and it has manuscripts from as early as the 11th century. Most of its manuscripts have been purchased, but it has in the past received a number of important gifts and bequests. The second category is the printing, the selecting, the classifying and the printing in alphabetical order of these references in the Index Catalog, whose description need not be gone into.

CURRENT LIST OF MEDICAL LITERATURE is published weekly and lists of RECENT BOOK ACQUISITIONS are issued several times per year as supplements. The subscription for both is $5.00 per year in the United States and $6.50 per year in other countries. The Recent Book Acquisitions may be obtained separately at $1.00 per year. The cost of maintaining the Army Medical Library is about $135,000 a year excluding the salaries of guards, watchmen and janitors, as well as the cost of heating and lighting. Of this about $65,000 is required for the salaries of the 36 members of the staff.

The second largest item of expense is the production of the Index Catalog which requires an annual expenditure of approximately $28,500, although usually $30,000 is set up. The cost of producing the catalog will vary somewhat according to the size of the current volume but it has been fairly well standardized so as to include the printing of about 100,000 references yearly. The third largest item is for the acquisition of material and for this $25,000 has been provided annually. Of this $10,000 to $12,000 goes for journals, about $10,000 for books and the remainder for technical apparatus, supplies, etc. Lastly, comes the expense of binding. Here again the amount is variable depending upon what the Surgeon General's office can spare out of its binding funds but it will usually approximate $15,000 a year which includes rebinding. Last year the Library began to bind a good portion of the journals which were not often called for, in much cheaper bindings than have been used formerly. By using heavy paste-board binders the cost of binding a given number of volumes was reduced more than 60% and if the Library could omit its interlibrary mail loans and could depend entirely on microfilm copying for its out of town patrons perhaps 75% of the collection could be bound profitably in this manner.

The Library has no funds which can be spent legally upon such things as the printing of catalogs, archives, quarterlies, etc. Last year, in his annual report the Surgeon General called attention to the fact that "The Army Medical Library has no vehicle which can express the views of the Surgeon General and the Library Staff in matters involving science and administration, the history of medicine, and bibliography," and he adds "At some future date, with the reorganization of the library consequent upon a new building, it is hoped that provision may be made for the regular appearance in print under Government auspices of suitable research and other work by the staff, in an Army Medical Library Quarterly, as an official publication of the office of the surgeon general."

It is not necessary to comment at length upon the desirability of such a publication. However, as great oaks from little acorns grow, so the Army Medical Library has made a beginning with what would have been regarded as an impossibility a year ago, that is, the production of the Current List, which receives no Government support, but is issued entirely by the efforts of our friends. The Library has by no means given up the idea for the production of some sort of quarterly, journal, or archives even though such a project is not to be considered at this time. Perhaps some of our friends will care to make suggestions as to this.
